CEDAR FALLS, IOWA

THE ALUMNUS

Iowa State Teachers College

Growing Need for Elementary Teachers--P. 1

Greetings From the President

TO Alumni and friends of Teachers College — best wishes for a productive, happy, and successful year.

This year your alma mater hopes to take big steps toward excellence in its teaching program and enlargement of its service to the state.

As most of you know, the State Board of Regents has approved a request of the faculty and administration to offer the liberal arts type B.A. degree as well as degrees for teachers and to change the name to "The State College of Iowa" in keeping with the enlarged function. Final approval awaits action by the state legislature this spring.

As we said in our message to alumni last spring, teacher education will continue to be our chief interest and function. We will continue to uphold to the best of our ability the hard-earned reputation for excellence in teacher preparation that the college has enjoyed in the past.

We earnestly solicit your help in the months ahead in gaining legislative approval for the enlarged goals.

Again, the best to all of you.

J. W. MAUCKER, President

Who Will Teach Them?

By Betts Ann Roth

(Miss Roth is an assistant professor in the Department of Education and Psychology, where her specialty is Elementary Education. She taught at the Duluth Branch of the University of Minnesota before joining the staff here in 1951.—Ed.)

A TEACHER was trying to help her children understand the recency of some of our technological developments such as radio, television, jet propulsion, and so forth. She asked, "What is here today that wasn't here fifty years ago?" "Me," hollered a bright little eight-year-old girl. And she's right. Furthermore she and the other 34,380,000 elementary school children are the most important things that are here today but weren't here fifty years ago.

And they all need excellent teachers. Desperately. Some are already so endowed, but according to N.E.A. figures we are facing a shortage of 135,000 adequately prepared elementary teachers at the present time. This is devastating, especially since the destiny of a democracy depends on a well educated population. Teachers, especially teachers of the youngest, should carry the torch.

YOU who are friends, alumni, and parents can help. For the sake of all children including your own, encourage the worthy to teach. Recruit your sisters and brothers, nieces and nephews, and your teenage daughters and sons. (Yes, sons; more and more men are finding elementary teaching a lucrative and challenging profession—one of the most significant educational developments since World War II).

When you do, here are some of the things you might tell them.

Tell them that teaching is for many of us the most vital profession of mankind. It is a creative one, utilizing strength, intelligence, and imagination. Though teachers come in a variety of shapes and colors, and an assortment of sizes, though their interests and beliefs vary—those who are sincere share one thing in common, a desire to help each child achieve maximum development. Therefore, in the eyes of the child, the loved teacher often stands second to no one. It was nearing the end of my first year of teaching and we were sharing our summer plans with one another. When it became my turn I announced that I would study in summer school at the University of Minnesota. It was with overwhelming humility that I heard a disbelieving first grader say quietly and with respect, "But, Miss Roth, don't you know everything?" Where could one find greater trust among those with whom he works?

Their high regard for you as a teacher is only a small drop of the fuel that keeps the glow alive. A group of teachers were asked to describe their greatest satisfaction in teaching. By far the most often mentioned was the delight found in seeing learning take place; for example, a rough-neck third grader had always been too interested in nails and snails and puppy dog tails to be very excited about learning to read and his lack of skill in that area was constant testimony to the fact. His third grade teacher tackled the problem with imagination and persistence. She found simple books and other reading materials which contained information about his interests. She gave him encouragement and special help, and one day he came to her with radiant countenance and a book and said, "I can read this one from cover to cover!" That was the start of new success for him and a source of continuing inspiration for his teacher.

THERE are other rewards in store for those who choose to teach. You can tell them that the future is bright with opportunity. For one thing salaries are going up because of increasing certification requirements and public recognition of the importance of education. Among others it provides variety. Though many of us prefer straight classroom teaching, some may wish to consider elementary supervision, remedial reading instruction, or working with the handicapped, and these may be done in hamlet or metropolis, at home or abroad. Or if you are "the marrying kind" then in the words of one teacher, "elementary teaching is the 'real McCoy' for a parent who either wants or has to work. It is surprising how much better a teacher handles his own children after teaching other children." Finally, security, tenure, and adequate retirement plans are now available within the profession.

Tell them all these things, and then if lack of money is a stumbling block to college preparation urge them to apply for one of the many scholarships available. Or if still undecided suggest that they talk to their teachers, counselors, and others who may give them additional information.

Once convinced it is hoped all might share Glennice L. Harmon's convictions expressed by her in these words: "They ask why I teach and I reply, 'Where could I find more splendid company?'"

Name Change, Enlarged Function Approved by Regents

THE State Board of Regents approved a request of Teachers College to change its name to The State College of Iowa at its November meeting.

The change in name, as well as a recently approved request of the college to offer programs of instruction in the liberal arts without teacher education requirements, will go to the state legislature for final sanction. The change in name will be contingent upon approval of the broadened function of the college. At present, students at T.C. cannot receive the B.A. degree unless they have taken courses required for a teaching certificate.

A recent ruling of the Attorney General held that the request to offer non-teaching programs must be approved by the legislature. The same will be true for the name change.

"The proposed changes are in line with the trend in teacher education institutions throughout the country," President Maucker points out.

"If they are approved, the preparation of teachers will continue to be the primary function of the college," said President Maucker. "Actually, we expect the change in name and function, if approved, to strengthen considerably the teacher education program. We feel that the college will be able to attract greater numbers of superior students. We will also be in a better position to attract and hold a high quality instructional staff."

"The offering of the liberal arts programs will necessitate few changes in courses or staff. We will merely be making our liberal arts program required of all teachers available to students who do not plan to teach."

The changes now up for approval by the legislature represent the fruition of long deliberation by the college staff. During the years of 1958-59 the faculty and administration engaged in intensive study to find ways to improve the instructional program and raise academic standards. As part of this study they examined trends throughout the nation in teacher education institutions. They became convinced that it would strengthen the teacher education program and enable the college to render greater service to the state if authority were granted to offer degree programs for students who do not plan to teach.

If this change is made, the college will no longer be strictly a teachers college but will fall more appropriately in the category of state colleges, a transition that has been made in practically all other states except a small number in the northeastern part of the country.

The resolution approved by the Board of Regents follows:

The Board authorizes its Finance Committee with the assistance of Code Editor, Attorney General, and officials of the college to prepare the necessary bills to define the functions and name of the college as follows:

1—The primary responsibility of the college shall be the preparation of teachers and other educational personnel for schools, colleges, and universities; and the provision of consultative and other services, including experimentation with instructional content, methods, and material for the improvement of the educational program of the schools of the state.

2—The college may also offer programs of instruction in the liberal and vocational arts and such other educational programs as the State Board of Regents may from time to time approve.

3—The name of the "Iowa State Teachers College" shall be changed to "The State College of Iowa."

BEFORE it started, the 1960 football season didn't appear to hold anything special for ISTC. Most guesses were that the Panthers would have a pretty sound team, and probably win over half their games.

ISTC had a new coach in 28-year-old Stan Sheriff, and he had a new, young coaching staff. Sheriff had a pretty good nucleus of lettermen—fifteen—with which to build his first college football team.

"Nothing great," said the fans, "but they should be interesting."

The Panthers opened by beating Mankato State, 41-16. "Ho-hum," yawned the fans.

North Dakota State was next to go down 19-7. "Not real impressive," they said, leaving the stadium, "but there's potential there."

. . . and a rugged job well done by the team.

For the 1960 Panthers . . .

Bruises, Bouquets and Mineral Water

Drake, traditionally a tough foe, led at the half, 3-0. "Now we'll find out if they've got it," whispered the Panther backers. They had it in the second half, and won 14-3.

. . . for the coach . . .

Now there was reason for optimism. But the next hurdle was Augustana, defending conference champ that had a 10-game winning streak going.

The Panthers turned out to be rude guests at Augustana's centennial celebration, turning in a 27-7 shocking upset. "Man," cried ISTC supporters, "We really got a football team."

From there on it was like knocking down a row of dominoes . . . Morning-side fell, then North Dakota U., South Dakota U., South Dakota State, and Wheaton. Nine straight victories, and a football season unparalleled in ISTC history.

Enthusiasm on and off campus was at a peak. A caravan of cars, busses, and the new victory bell made the trek to most out of town games. The reception given the team at South Dakota, where they wrapped up their first conference crown in eight years, brought tears to the eyes of many players. They responded with a 40-0 win.

At a wild, cheering celebration in the men's gym, after the season was completed, co-captain Warren Hansen rose to his feet and asked for silence. When he got it, Hansen told the 3000 students and fans:

"We're not big, we're not fast, and we're not fancy. But we believe in what he (Coach Sheriff) says. And when he tells us to get in there and hit 'em, we hit 'em.

"I think Stan Sheriff is the greatest coach in the country."

A standing, deafening ovation greeted Sheriff. After he wiped something from his eye, and found his voice, he said:

"A season like this doesn't just happen. Many people are responsible for it. But I appreciate this very much. Thank you."

Whoever, or whatever, was responsible for the 1960 football season at ISTC can be weighed for sometime. The important thing is, it did happen. And it was a great thrill for all those who were watching.

Cagers, Grapplers Start 60-61 Season

JIM WITHAM'S basketball team opened its season at Nebraska Dec. 1. The Panthers, with 10 lettermen on hand, played a warm up game with the ISTC freshmen Nov. 22.

Dean Jensen and Ron LaFrentz are the major losses from last year's club that tied for second in the North Central Conference.

Jim Jackson, Jerry Holbrook, Pete Spoden, Cliff Svoboda, Bill Noonkesser, and Bob Waller are all back. They should get help from Dick Christy and Ed Watt, up from the unbeaten frosh squad, and junior college transfer Sonny Finch.

Jackson, Spoden and Holbrook will share the captaincy.

COACH Bill Koll has nine lettermen on his ISTC wrestling squad that opened its season here Dec. 3 with the annual Panther Tournament. The mat team expects to have a well balanced squad, with more strength at the upper weights.

Teaching Department Head, Dr. Curtis, Dies at 54

DR. DWIGHT D. CURTIS, Head of the Department of Teaching here for 15 years, died of a heart attack September 21. He was 54.

As Head of the Teaching Department, Dr. Curtis was in direct contact with more students than probably any other member of the faculty. Dr.

Curtis was one of those most influential in pressing for a new laboratory school, and had a large part in the choice and design of facilities embodied in it.

Dr. Curtis received his B.S. degree from Northeast Missouri State Teachers College, Kirksville, in 1931, and his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the State University of Iowa in 1936 and 1942, respectively. He served as Professor and Head of the Department of Teaching at Iowa State Teachers College since 1945. Prior to this he had been a teacher in the rural schools of Clark County, Missouri; supervisor of the Campus School at Teachers College, Kirksville, Missouri; and Director of the Training School and Head of the Department of Teaching, State Teachers College, Chadron, Nebraska.

As an authority on student teaching, Dr. Curtis wrote or edited many books and articles. His best known work is "Guiding Your Student Teacher," a book which he co-authored with L. O. Andrews and which was published by Prentice-Hall in 1955.

President J. W. Maucker, in a letter to the faculty, said: "Dr. Curtis was a very capable and respected member of our staff. He was a recognized leader in the field of student teaching and for three years he served as a member of the executive committee of the National Association of Supervisors of Student Teaching and was a past president of the Association for Student Teaching. He was a recognized leader in the field of student teaching and gave generously of his efforts and time to promote cooperation and understanding between the academic fields on campus and the student teaching problems."

He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Wayne Nowack, Schenectady, New York, and a son, James Dwight, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Dr. Wagner Is Temporary Teaching Department Head

DR. GUY WAGNER has been appointed acting Head of the Department of Teaching and Director of the Malcolm Price Laboratory school at the College. He will fill the post left vacant by the death of Dr. Dwight Curtis.

Dr. Wagner's appointment will continue through the academic year and until such time as a permanent replacement for Dr. Curtis has been named.

Dr. Wagner served as Head of the Department of Teaching at ISTC from 1941-1945. He then returned to organize and direct the present curriculum laboratory, where he remains director.

Dr. Wagner is a native Iowan and a Teachers College graduate. He received the M.A. and Ph.D. from the University of Iowa.

He is the co-editor of the Reader's Digest Skill Builders series which has been used extensively in the public schools, and has authored numerous articles and publications. He is the contributing editor of the Midland Schools magazine, official publication of the Iowa State Education Association, and curriculum consultant to the Iowa State Department of Public Instruction.

Faculty Members Named to Editing Positions

Dr. Glenadine Gibb Editor of The Arithmetic Teacher

Dr. Glenadine Gibb, professor of mathematics at the Teachers College, has been appointed editor of The Arithmetic Teacher for a three year term by the board of directors of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics. She named Dr. E. W. Hamilton, also of the ISTC mathematics staff, as associate editor.

Six educators throughout the United States serve as assistant editors for the arithmetic journal.

Other ISTC mathematics faculty members serving as editors of journals are Dr. Fred Lott and Dr. Irvin Brune. Dr. Lott is editor of The Pentagon, the official publication of Kappa Mu Epsilon, mathematics honorary society for college students.

Dr. Brune is one of the three mathematics editors for School Science and Mathematics, the official publication of the Central Association of Science and Mathematics Teachers.

Dr. Agnes Lebeda Area Editor of Business Education Forum

Dr. Agnes Lebeda, associate professor of Business Education at Iowa State Teachers College, has been appointed one of the editors for the Business Education Forum.

Dr. Lebeda will serve as editor for the area in Basic Business.

The magazine is the official publication of the United Business Education Association. The association is the professional organization for business teachers and includes a membership of approximately 10,000 people and 240 colleges and universities.

National Safety Council Honors Ivan L. Eland

Ivan L. Eland, director of safety education at Teachers College, has been honored by the National Safety Council.

The council awarded Eland a plaque at a national convention in acknowledgement of his outstanding service in the field of safety education.

An ISTC graduate, Eland is a new member of the College teaching staff. Prior to his appointment, he was associated with the National Safety Council as director of driver education and traffic consultant. He has published widely in the field of safety education.

Aerospace Award To Dr. Randall Bebb

DR. Randall R. Bebb of the Malcolm Price Laboratory School staff has been awarded the Willard J. Combs Aerospace Award for 1960.

Established in 1958 to honor the late Willard Combs who was a teacher at Des Moines Technical High School and president of the Iowa Air Age Education Council, the award was presented during the Iowa State Education Association state convention at a dinner Friday in Des Moines.

It is given to recognize the Iowa classroom teacher, who, in the opinion of the Aerospace Education Council of Iowa, has best utilized aerospace education ideas in his or her classroom.

Dr. Bebb holds the bachelor degree from Iowa State Teachers College and the master and doctorate degrees from the State University of Iowa, Iowa City. He has been a member of the ISTC laboratory school staff since 1947.

Last summer Dr. Bebb used the aerospace theme in the entire curriculum for a class of sixth graders in cooperation with a summer aerospace workshop sponsored by the Teachers College.

A Trip to the Mineral Water Bowl

DESPITE a 17-6 loss to a powerful Hillsdale (Mich.) team, Panther football players and fans alike enjoyed a weekend in Excelsior Springs, Mo., home of the Mineral Water Bowl. Well over 500 students made the trip, along with several hundred other Panther fans.

Highlights of the trip included a parade featuring ISTC's marching band, a student dance, and a smorgasbord following the game.

Several alumni visited with Alumni Secretary Milo Lawton at an alumni coffee hour.

$295,500 Grant to ISTC

For 1961-62 Academic Year Institute

A grant of $295,500 has been awarded to Iowa State Teachers College by the National Science Foundation for the 1961-62 Academic Year Institute.

The institute will be conducted at the Teachers College beginning the fall semester of 1961 and continue through the summer of 1962.

As one of the NSF programs for education in the sciences, the institute program is now being held in 33 colleges and universities including ISTC. Under the program, high school mathematics and science instructors receive stipends while pursuing advanced courses in their field.

The core of the institutes' plan consists of four fundamental subject areas—mathematics, physics, chemistry and biology. Seminars and field trips are a part of the program.

Students will receive a $300 monthly basic stipend for ten months plus $450 for every dependent during the regular year of study. During the summer the dependency stipend will be $100. Free tuition, $75 for books and $160 limit on travel are included.

Dr. Robert A. Rogers, professor of physics, is director of the institute at ISTC.

Other officials in the ISTC institute include associate directors Dr. H. C. Trimble, head of the mathematics department, and Dr. Clifford McCollum, head of the science department. Dr. Dorothy Matala is coordinator of the seminar program. Classes will be conducted by members of the ISTC faculty.

Itinerary Completed For European Tour

Four-fifths of the quota for the Social Science Study Tour of Europe is now filled. It is expected that enrollment will be completed soon, and persons wishing enrollment forms should make their requests without delay.

The itinerary for the Tour has been completed, beginning with two weeks at Queens College at Oxford University. On the Continent the group will spend time in Amsterdam, Cologne, Bonn, Heidelberg, Munich, Vienna, Salzburg, Venice, Luzern, Berne, Paris and various other points. In Vienna the group will spend two weeks at the University. Music festival concerts will be included at Salzburg.

The Russian portion will include such features as the skyscraper Moscow University, Theatre Ballet, the Kremlin, art galleries, a factory, rural villages, rural schools, and collective farms.

3600 Students at TC For Fall Semester

The official enrollment figure for the 1960 Fall semester stands at 3,608 as compared with 3,428 last year. Registrar Marshall Beard pointed out that there has been a considerable increase in the number of part-time or "drive-in" students this year, with 520 students carrying less than the average load of semester credit hours as opposed to 434 last year.

Breaking down the increased enrollment of 180 students, Dr. Beard said that ISTC has 94 more full-time students and 86 more part-time students than were enrolled last year at this time.

Of the total enrollment figure, 1,752 are men and 1,856 are women. Graduate students number 286.

A total of 1,256 new students are enrolled at the college this semester, with 976 coming from high schools and 280 transferring from other colleges.

Radio Programming Post For Edward C. Lambert, '33

Dr. Edward C. Lambert, class of '33 and professor of journalism at the University of Missouri, has been appointed education programming consultant for KMOX radio station in St. Louis, Missouri.

Dr. Lambert is assisting in the supervision and planning of the station's increased schedule of college credit courses, documentaries, and information program. Among the programs he has done this fall are a special tape for the award-winning series, "At Your Service," and an interview with General Maxwell Taylor, Army Chief of Staff from 1955 to 1959.

Dr. Lambert will continue as professor of journalism, head of the radio-television sequence of the school of journalism and assistant to the president for television at the University of Missouri.

Since his association with the university in 1946 as assistant professor of journalism, he has initiated the radio sequence in 1947 and directed the television program established with its commercially-licensed station in 1953.

Nationally recognized as an expert on broadcast industry standards and practices, Dr. Lambert has twice served as consultant for federal communications groups and appeared before a house commerce subcommittee considering legislation to aid educational broadcasting.

He is author of several papers on educational broadcasting and his articles on that subject have been published in national magazines.
